Spiritual Oversight of the Parish

- The job of the Wardens is give opinions, the Rector must then make his decision.
- The Parish Council in which the members complement each other become a powerful force in overseeing the affairs of the parish.
- As such many potentially explosive situations can be defused
- They also serve as checks and balances in the oversight of the parish, which can help protect the Rector from undue or unfair criticism.
- If disagreements arise in the Parish Council, the Bishop as senior pastor of the parish may be consulted.
